Connected to the Communities We Serve

You know Rappahannock Electric Cooperative's (REC) yellow trucks roll through your community as crews work to improve reliability or restore service after a storm.

But did you know employees of REC attend hundreds of events in your community each year? We teach kids how to plant energy-saving trees. We show first-responders the dangers of electricity. And we share facts on electric cars at county fairs.

You see, your communities are our communities, too. And together with you, #WeAreREC!

Here's a review of REC's community involvement so far this year:
